Memory Work Helps

REVIEW! REVIEW! REVIEW!

- Repetition is the best way to engrave the verses on your memory. Review the verse immediately after learning it, and repeat it frequently in the next few days. This is crucial for fixing the verse firmly in your mind because of the tendency to forget something recently learned.
- But as you learn new verses, don't forget to occasionally review the ones you've already memorized. At the beginning of the week, go through all the passages you've already learned (just read through the flashcards, or look at the topic side of the card and recite the passage from memory). Do it again at the end of the week when you have you new passage memorized.
- Divide the verse into two or three word phrases. Memorize the first phrase, then move on to the next. Then say the phrases together as you move the next phrase, and so on. Little by little, the whole verse will come easily.

Monthly Game

Fill in the Blank

If you have children who aren't fluent readers yet, you can say the memory work to them a few times. Then leave off the last word and point to the child to see if they can fill it in. Recite the passage again pointing to you child to fill in another word. Continue until the child knows the passage.
